

ARIZONA WEEKLY NEWS BUDGET.

What Has Happened in the Territory Since Our Last Issue.

ALL KINDS OF INFORMATION.

New Business Enterprises—Good Year for the Man With the Hoe, and the Owner of Live Stock—Everybody Except the Editor Expects to Have Money to Burn.

A company has been formed to bore for oil near Tempe.

Material has begun to arrive at Douglas for the U. S. custom house to be built at that place.

The boom at Tombstone has begun. The town has a new restaurant, a new saloon and a new law firm.

Real estate is changing hands and houses are going up rapidly at Naco. The boom has only begun.

The new code makes the sheriff ex-officio assessor again, in all except first class counties, but the provision does not go into effect until Jan. 1, 1902.

Bisbee is booming. Many business men are seeking openings there, but store locations are hard to get. Thirty buildings are under construction.

The Bisbee correspondent of the Prospector says there are five cases of smallpox in the pest house and three cases quarantined in the resident portion of the city.

It is said that Mesa will try the effect of the local option law enacted by the last legislature and make an absolutely dry town of the south side capital.

The Phoenix correspondent of the Bulletin says: As near as I can figure up, and I fear I have overlooked a few items of importance, the last legislature appropriated about $366,000.

Ten thousand pounds of poultry was shipped from Phoenix last month to various towns in Arizona, and the outside residents are wondering what kind of ministers Phoenix has got anyway.—Gazette.

A Tempe maid of sixteen says that the report that there are microbes in kisses was started by an old maid to prevent her younger sisters from enjoying life. That Tempe madam is no prude.—Gazette.

The Kingman Miner says a large amount of Mohave county turquoise is now being handled in Los Angeles. The stones are harder and take a much finer finish than those from many other sections of the county.

The proposed Elks opera house at Prescott when completed will have a seating capacity of 1,400 persons. The front will be of tufa, the balance of brick and stone. The building will be two stories high and 100x136 feet.

Dr. J. M. Ford, E. E. Ford, T. E. Farish and Col. Wm. Christy have gone to Mexico to visit a mining property in which Dr. Ford and Col. Christy are interested and which is located southeast of Hermosillo, state of Sonora. They were joined by Judge Barnes and others at Tucson.

The contract has been let for sinking the first well in the Mineral Point oil field, Yavapai county. Work will be commenced within less than thirty days and will be prosecuted vigorously to completion. The operation will be watched with the greatest interest.

The rough riders will hold their third session at Colorado Springs on June 24. Certainly the meeting of next year should come to Arizona, says the Star. Prescott seems to be the most appropriate place. Let the Arizona delegation keep the matter in mind.

The Cochise Review notes the shipment of three cars of Sonora steers from Bisbee to San Carlos. They were for C. O. Douglas, beef contractor at the agency, and shipped by his buyer, Ben Sneed, who is still here and on the lookout for more beef cattle. Those shipped by him yesterday were pronounced in unusually fine condition.

The city election held in Solomonville last Monday was a very tame affair, only six votes cast, which indicates that the interest in the city government does not run very high in Solomonville. Five councilmen were elected as follows: A. G. Smith, W. C. Clemons, Arturo Elias, Guy Loomis and Adolph Ruiz. Prof. A. E. Nelson was elected marshal and Harry Young was elected city clerk.—Bulletin.

The day fixed for the installation of the Elks lodge in Bisbee is April 15th. Word has been received from District Deputy Michaelson that such a date would be satisfactory. The Tucson team is practicing regularly and have asked the grand lodge for the privilege of assisting in the installation of the Bisbee herd. Such a large herd is an unusual sight in Arizona and several old bucks from different parts of the territory will be present to assist in the round-up.—Cochise Review.

Word has been received here that another accident occurred in the United Verde mine at Jerome in which two men were killed and four others seriously wounded. A number of holes had been loaded ready for shooting, and the work of lighting the fuse was in progress. The fuse used was too short, and before all of them were lighted the first ones commenced to explode, causing the accident.—Journal-Miner.

An Arizona paper says that steer tying contests are becoming so numerous in that territory that when a cow sees a man coming with a rope she lays down on her back and sticks her feet in the air, ready to be tied. She has learned by experience that there is no use running. The refusal of the cows to enter into the spirit of the sport has taken away the interest and the contests will probably be abandoned as tame and uninteresting.—Denver Stockman.

There are so few bad boys in Arizona that it looks like a waste of money to build a reform school. It is not improbable that the reform school will prove the entering wedge towards the removal of the penitentiary from Yuma. When the school is built and uninhabited, and there is another attempt made to move the penitentiary from Yuma, it will not be such hard work to move it up to Benson. The Southern Pacific would not fight this removal very hard.—Ex.

The heaviest hail storm ever seen in this section visited portions of the south side Sunday afternoon. At John T. Moore's place, at the head of the Hayden ditch, the storm continued with great violence for over an hour, covering the ground to a depth of four inches with hail. About two inches are reported from Mesa, and the storm was equally heavy to the south of Tempe. At Moore's place the ground was still white this morning.—Tempe News.

The stockholders in the Grand Maricopa and Salt River Valley canals received last Thursday dividends amounting to more than $20,000. The money was distributed among one hundred and fifty persons, ranging from a few dollars each to several thousand. This is a new and peculiar experience for the old stockholders, who have heretofore been paying "Irish dividends," says the Republican. There have been paid in assessments on the stock of the Maricopa canal over seven hundred dollars per share in years past, and almost as much in the Salt.

It is not often that the proceedings of a grand jury are interrupted as they were at Tucson last week. Martin Costello was a member of the jury. He was the owner of eleven copper claims near the Copper Queen mines at Bisbee, and a couple of men wanted to buy them. The grand jury took a short recess so Costello could go up to the bank, sign the deeds to the mines and receive a half million dollars in cash. As soon as he had counted the money he returned to the court house and the jury proceeded with the investigation of criminal affairs.—Lordsburg Liberal.

The Bonito correspondent of the Bulletin says: A report was made to the commanding officer at Grant on Friday last that the order of the war department was being violated in that the post canteen was still selling beer. Lieutenant Hornbrook, the commanding officer, investigated the matter and found that a regular business had been done in the evenings after the officers were not in the habit of coming around; about forty barrels of beer had been sold in the last three weeks under the name of soda water. Lieutenant Hornbrook reported the matter to the United States district attorney for his action.

Mark Luley of Arizona, who brought two bears from the western mountains to participate in the inaugural parade, has returned from his trip to Baltimore, Philadelphia and other eastern cities and is again at the Hotel Lawrence. Mr. Luley will start April 2, for his home in Arizona, where he will take charge as superintendent of some large mining properties, which he sold some time ago to eastern capitalists. The bears are now at the Zoological Gardens, contented and happy. Yesterday Mr. Luley called at the Post editorial rooms and presented to the office the big Mexican sombrero which he wore on his trip east. It is a costly and highly ornamented piece of headwear, such as the better class of Mexicans wear.—Washington Post.

A beet sugar factory will probably be enrolled soon among the manufacturing industries of the Salt River valley which, by the way, are not very numerous. Messrs. W. J. Murphy and Deloss W. Brown of Peoria, Ill., submitted a proposition to the farmers in the neighborhood of Glendale and Peoria. They were representing a party of capitalists who, in consideration of a donation of 2,000 acres of land, would erect a factory. The cost of the plant should not be less than $250,000 and it should have a manufacturing capacity of 250 tons. A sugar crop list was started. Messrs. Brown and Murphy each subscribed 100 acres, and Mr. Chauncey D. Clark 40 acres, and others various amounts. There is no doubt that the required area of land will be quickly subscribed.—Republican.

A Boston wool buyer told the writer some time since that Arizona wool was the best on the eastern market and that the output of the territory was 4,000,000 pounds annually. There is little clipping done outside of the northern counties, except the sheep that are driven into the Salt River valley every spring in large numbers. Bayless & Berkalew of Oracle and Tucson, have just completed a fine lot of sheep to the number of 5,000. The clip averaged 4 1/2 pounds per head, or the two clips in one year 9 pounds. The prices are down now to 10 cents per pound as against 17 cents heretofore.—Star.

The charge is made by the press of northern Arizona that the superintendent of the forest reserves is trying to depopulate Santa Fe of her one-lung invalids by appointing them to the position of range riders for service in Arizona, twenty of them arriving in one batch recently for service on the San Francisco reserve. It would seem that Arizona has young men who are fully capable of holding down the job, and who, because of their physical robustness, could do far more and better service than any eastern invalid who comes to recuperate his broken down health.—Southwestern Stockman.

One of the most pleasing natural curiosities in the territory of Arizona is the pool of water known as Montezuma's well. It is situated 15 miles northeast of the old, abandoned military post known as Camp Verde. It is 250 feet in diameter and the clear, pure water is about 60 feet below the surface of the surrounding country. Some years ago certain military officers sounded the pool and found that it had a uniform depth of 80 feet of water, except in one place, apparently about six feet square, where the sounding line went down about 500 feet without touching bottom. The well empties into Beaver creek about 100 yards distant, the water gushing forth from the rocks as though it were under great pressure. The well is undoubtedly supplied from subterranean sources, possibly through the hole sounded by the army officers years ago. The sides of the well are honeycombed with caves and tunnels, permitting sightseers to descend to the water's edge.

The Best Blood Purifier.
The blood is constantly being purified by the lungs, liver and kidneys. Keep these organs in a healthy condition and the bowels regular and you will have no need of a blood purifier. For this purpose there is nothing equal to Chamberlain's stomach and liver tablets, one dose of them will do you more good than a dollar bottle of the best blood purifier. Price 25 cents. Samples free at Hitchcock's drug store.

The Gila Valley Furniture company, at Safford, Arizona, carries a full line of furniture, carpets and household furnishings, which they sell at eastern prices, at wholesale and retail. It would be to the interest of intending purchasers to correspond with them. H. W. Hudgen, proprietor.

Is the Womanly Woman Doomed?

Men are rough creatures. A typical specimen, to whom the above question was put, growled out, "If she is, then the manly man is d—d," and, profanely aside, he seemed to have hit the nail on the head. When the womanly woman, the feminine woman, is crowded out of sight by her too aspiring sister, the world will have lost its greatest charm for men. Fortunately, there is no more real danger of the sexes changing places than there is of the moon assuming the duties and functions of the sun.

The great mass of intelligent women realize that their strength lies within their influence upon the dominant being—man. So soon as they abandon the sphere of influence to enter upon the sphere of action they are handicapped to a hopeless degree. There is high antiquity for the truism that "the hand that rocks the cradle is the hand that rules the world," and if rocking the cradle does not include the spanking of the lusty young occupant after he shall have donned the breeches distinctive of his sex, then the mother's duty has been but half done. A few well chosen flagellations during the formative period of the boy's character, together with years of a mother's devotion, will afford to that mother a power and influence in the affairs of men to be measured only by the ability of her son or sons.

It is not necessary for her to hold the suffrage. She and her teachings are represented at the polls, or on the forum, by, perhaps, half a dozen sturdy upholders thoroughly grounded in her principles.

The ballot in the hands of woman is as out of place as it is dangerous. She is no more capable of casting a vote correctly than she is of throwing a stone with precision. It may have force and weight, but it is fraught with more danger to friend than foe.

In brief, the woman, who, dissatisfied with ruling men who rule the world, steps down from her high position into the ranks of the combatants as she is elected as the champion who, dissatisfied with his rate of progress, should turn loose his horses and place himself in the harness. She should be to her man kind—father, husband, brothers, sons—an inspiration, a guiding star, a comforter.

So long as she retains their love, respect, admiration, she need not fear for her power. She is the womanly woman. When she lays aside these attributes she becomes just a plain every day human being without influence or effect. If the womanly woman be doomed, to give place to her, it will be only when chaos returns to earth.—Mrs. Ledyard Stevens in the New York Herald.

Holds up a Congressman.

"At the end of the last campaign," writes Champ Clark, Missouri's brilliant congressman "from overwork, nervous tension, loss of sleep and constant speaking I had about utterly collapsed. It seemed that all the organs in my body were out of order, but three bottles of Electric Bitters made me all right. It's the best all round medicine ever sold over a druggist's counter." Overworked, rundown men and weak, sickly women gain splendid health and vitality from Electric Bitters. Try them. Only 50 c. Guaranteed by Globe Drug Store, druggist.
